

SUMTER LITTLE THEATRE 2009-2010

Theatre School Application & Information

Theater for and by children and young people is an integral part of the Sumter Little Theatre. The Theatre School is the center of the youth program providing a unique environment conducive to learning various theater skills. In this creative setting, students "learn by doing." They are involved in activities designed to develop those skills and talents that are fundamental to theater participation and beneficial to other aspects of the student's life. Students learn to appreciate the responsibility required in producing plays and they look forward to working toward excellence both on the stage and off.

In addition to the drama class each week, there are many other learning opportunities. Students may audition for the youth productions and subscription plays offering parts for young actors. As students advance, they are encouraged to learn and take responsibility in various areas of technical theater. Students also volunteer to serve as ushers for all performances.
